Welcome

Time for contemplation is becoming an increasingly important factor for us. Taking care of one another is important, and the cosy living trend is showing no sign of slowing down. Comfort has been a driving factor across many categories and industries and will continue to influence our actions in 2021.

The Scandinavian capacity for casual enjoyment, which we find in the modern design of everything from food and fashion to interiors and décor, continues to be a sought-after lifestyle that the whole world is watching. And it really only takes a few, well-chosen products to attain that particular sense of authenticity and honesty. Villa Collection Denmark is passionate about this particular kind of atmosphere design - nordic living with an international twist.

Each season, we present an exquisite universe of our own designs and carefully selected products that together create a unique range for modern interior design. We've filled the next pages with decorative new ways to interpret and set the scene for the times we live in.

Villa Collection Denmark is the epitome of creativity and classic, Nordic DNA.

Our mantra is that it should be simple and easy to follow current interior trends without compromising on the quality of the detail or materials. So we primarily work with home accessories where craftsmanship plays a major role, as things made by hand are created with a passion that comes straight from the heart - and that's clear when you see it in your home.

We strive to combine trend, lifestyle, quality and price - offering a contemporary Scandinavian feeling with international vibe.

Commercializing bespoke craftsmanship items and a handmade look.

We see ourselves as curators of an effortless coziness - easily transforming any home into a trendy and casual living space.

Natural materials and good craftsmanship

This autumn's trends are taking us in multiple directions. There is an array of colours, such as a warm red gorilla head or a blue wall hanging that shows the world who we are. But we also have a trend in the natural colours that indicate our love for nature, and the greener tendencies that tell of our love for Nordic style, nature and the colours that originate from it.

We are simplifying our lifestyles, and we want to surround ourselves with interiors in natural materials that develop a patina and become more beautiful over time. We have an eye for the details, history and the time-honoured craft traditions in everything we surround ourselves with, and we have a strong focus on sustainability and on ensuring that, through our choice of materials, we take care of one another as well as our planet. Which is why upcycled materials and taking inspiration from nature is a theme that is continuing to grow.

One of this season's strongest trends is nature's own expression. We're seeing raw, roughed out natural stone, unpolished stone surfaces and irregular textures, where the deliberately imperfect surfaces stand in striking contrast to the polished surfaces of wood, stone and stoneware, which we are also seeing.

Villa Collection Denmark wants to make it as simple and uncomplicated as possible for you and your customers to invest in trend-based design and create unique universes in every corner of the home. It is our overriding aim that, by mixing and matching the products in the collection in different ways, you can achieve as many varied looks as possible and make your interior design truly unique and personal.

The AW21 collection embraces the modern, sustainable lifestyle with a sure sense of detail as well as simplicity.

Like fungi on trees

The inspiration for the vase and candle-holder is taken from the fungi that grow on trees in autumn in the cool Nordic countries. Each individual product is hand-modelled and utterly unique.

Contrast in natural stone

River stone is a granite species that features a particularly raw and rustic expression.

Our bowls and dishes are cut with a flat base and hand-polished interiors, and with the beautiful contrast between the rough exterior and the smooth interior, they are just as suitable for serving food as for decoration. Like all natural products, they vary in shape, colour and size.

The colour only appears when the stone is finally shaped into the functional dishes and bowls, and can vary in all the shades shown.

Rattan, nature's very own sprinter

Beautiful lamps in natural rattan, which is a grass species as well as the world's fastest growing material for furniture and lamps. Rattan regenerates in the span of 5-7 years and is felled by hand.

The lamps are cleaned with a dry cloth.

Faroese sheepskin

Faroese sheep are very robust and live out in the wild all year round, largely fending for themselves in the harsh, changeable weather.

The wool of Faroese sheep has two layers - an inner layer, which is short and soft, and an outer layer, which is coarser and longer. Faroese sheep have never been subject to industrialisation, which means that the colour of the skins varies greatly, and each one is unique. The Faroese sheepskins are health-certified and meet EU veterinary requirements.

Useful tips on maintaining and caring for your sheepskin:

- Shake it regularly
- Vacuum it regularly
- Air it - ideally in frosty weather. It can also be put in the freezer overnight
- If you spill something on it, wipe it with a damp cloth
- Brush it through to keep it looking nice

Mirror, mirror ...

The large oval mirror with a black iron frame is suitable for free-standing or hanging on a wall. At the back of the mirror is a stand that supports the mirror when positioned on the floor. The stand can be folded up and removed if the mirror is hung on the wall instead. It has four mounting holes, two at the top and two at the bottom, so it hangs securely.

Lamps of slate and marble

Slate is created by nature. The raw and unprocessed pieces of stone for these lamps are sourced in nature in the Far East. They are divided into smaller pieces, after which a hole is cut for the socket and cord.

The raw, unique lamp in unpolished marble gives off an amazing light. Marble is a type of rock that is typically formed below sea level millions of years ago. The individual piece of marble is manually sculpted into the final shape of the lamp before being fitted with a socket and cord.

Strong and naturally

The cork comes from the Chinese cork tree. The tree must be around 25 years old before the first harvesting can take place and is then harvested every 9-10 years after that. The tree is not damaged by the harvesting and can live to an age of up to 150 years.

Gentle, natural light

These rattan lamps in three sizes provide lighting that is soft and elegant. The lamps are hand-woven from Indonesian natural rattan, which is lightweight, durable and above all fast-growing, making it a great natural material. Maintenance is also easy - the lamp just needs to be wiped with a damp cloth.

Lamps of cardboard

These three beautiful lamps are all handmade from recycled cardboard - the colours are 100% natural, and in addition to giving a perfect light under the lamps they also provide a fantastic play of light through the lamp shade. The lamps will last for many years, but obviously do not tolerate water. The lamps can be cleaned easily with a soft duster.

Mouth-blown and one-of-a-kind

The beautiful glass lamp in brownish and sand-coloured tones is decorative both with and without light. The lamp is crafted from mouth-blown glass, and therefore the colours can vary from lamp to lamp.

Superb stoneware

We're always listening to our customers' request and have therefore added missing items to our superb range of stoneware frames. The latest additions to the collection include beautiful serving dishes and bowls with the same wonderful, natural look as the rest of the range.

Stoneware is fired at very high temperatures of at least 1260 degrees to make the material quite dense, as tough as nails and very durable. That's why stoneware is the strongest, the most beautiful product you can put on your table.

Contrast in natural stone

River stone is a granite species that features a particularly raw and rustic expression.

Our bowls and dishes are cut with a flat base and hand-polished interiors, and with the beautiful contrast between the rough exterior and the smooth interior, they are just as suitable for serving food as for decoration. Like all natural products, they vary in shape, colour and size.

The colour only appears when the stone is finally shaped into the functional dishes and bowls, and can vary in all the shades shown.

RIVER STONE

Examples of colour variations

Please note that the colours shown on this page might differ from the ones you receive when ordering. River stone is a natural material and colour variations will occur.

Coconut oil wax

These two series of scented candles are made with coconut oil wax, which has a longer burn time than certified palm oil wax, used in most of Villa Collection's scented candles.

We are in the process of replacing all of our candles with coconut oil wax candles.

Live candles and wonderful scents

Villa Collection Denmark has a wide and varied range of scented candles and fragrance oils for "hygge", atmosphere and a cosy mood in your room. There are fabulous fragrances to please everyone, and we're constantly adding wonderful new combinations.

Our range includes gorgeous, high-quality luxury candles in both glass and ceramic jars, with and without lids.

Our scented candles made with coconut wax have become really popular over the last few years. They contain natural, biodegradable coconut wax, and they burn for longer and are cleaner compared with the certified palm oil wax traditionally used in our scented candles. We're working on replacing palm oil with coconut wax in our entire range of scented candles.

The fragrance oil is solvent-free and contains pure extracts and essential oils. All fragrance oils are supplied with eight scented sticks that will keep your home smelling beautiful for up to eight months.

Look forward to brighter times ahead!

Good advice on live candles

- Cut the wick down to 1 cm before you light the candle and keep it at a length of 1 cm while the candle is lit thereby avoiding smoke.
- Never leave a burning candle unattended or in the company of children or pets.
- Always cut off the high edges thus preventing a flickering flame that can result in soot.
- Always place groups of candles with a minimum of 10 cm between the wicks to avoid overheating which leads to melting or running candles.
- Never place your candles where they will be exposed to draught or on a radiator as this can result in soot and a running candle.
- Always place your candle on a fireproof base and away from inflammable items keep the top of the candle free from used matches, as these may act as a wick.
- Always make sure that the candle is put out before leaving it and put the candle out with an extinguisher to avoid soot.
